

Announcement from Board Chair, Home Care Ontario

March 25, 2025

Sent on behalf of Sandra Ketchen, Chair of the Board of Directors, Home Care Ontario:

After 27 years of outstanding leadership, Sue VanderBent has decided to retire from her role as CEO of Home Care Ontario.

A tireless advocate for seniors and other vulnerable individuals, Sue has dedicated her career to ensuring more Ontarians can get the health care they require in the most appropriate setting -- at home. Sue's leadership was pivotal in navigating the Association through the challenges of the pandemic and raising the profile of home care as an integral part of the overall health system.

On behalf of myself and our Board of Directors, I want to extend our deepest thanks to Sue for her leadership of Home Care Ontario for the past 27 years. Sue's unwavering dedication and commitment to the growth of the home care sector in Ontario have positioned the Association well to further advocate for the critical role of home care in an evolving health care landscape.

The Board of Directors has begun the process to initiate a search for our future CEO and Sue will continue in her current capacity to support a smooth transition. The Board anticipates this process will be completed this summer and will continue to share updates in the months ahead.

Sincerely,
Sandra Ketchen

Board Chair
